

Obstetric Fee Disclosure

Congratulations on your pregnancy and welcome to Alana Obstetrics! We are your team of Obstetricians who will be caring for you and your baby throughout your pregnancy.

Dr Minke Burke Dr Neetika Mishra Dr Erin Nesbitt-Hawes Dr Lalla McCormack

We are the first and only female group practice of Obstetricians in Sydney, enabling us to offer you continuity of care throughout your antenatal visits and delivery. Although you will be booked with one primary Obstetrician, planned visits with the other group Obstetricians throughout the antenatal period will mean that you have the opportunity to meet with all of us before you give birth.

Why is this important?

This unique model of care has significant benefits for you and your baby with a team approach of not one, but four Obstetricians looking after you. The Alana Obstetricians rotate the on call arrangements meaning that each 24 hour period a new and fresh Obstetrician will be on call to deliver your baby safely.

We are working women and Mums too and know how important it is to balance the time we spend at work and with our families. We are looking forward to sharing this amazing time with you, and providing you with support and advice.

24 hour emergency access

When you choose Alana for your antenatal care, you have 24 hour access to our medical team. In the event of an emergency or medical complication related to your pregnancy, you can call our obstetric on call number 0499 525 000 at any time of the day or night.

Schedule of Visits

Your first antenatal appointment will take place normally between 8 and 12 weeks gestation. After you have attended your first appointment, the Alana reception team will schedule the remainder of your visits for you to ensure that you see an Alana Obstetrician at the required interval. In the event your primary Obstetrician is away or unavailable when your appointment falls due your appointment will be scheduled with one of the other Alana Obstetricians.

Third Trimester Growth Ultrasound

Between 30 and 34 weeks of your pregnancy we offer a third trimester growth ultrasound. This will allow a detailed assessment of your baby's development. This scan can be performed by us as part of your antenatal care, or you can choose to have this done at an external ultrasound provider.

Costs

Below you will find outlined the cost of your antenatal care provided by Alana Healthcare. This includes antenatal appointments, attendance at your delivery (in the delivery suite of either the Prince of Wales Private Hospital or the Royal Hospital for Women) and attendance whilst in the postnatal ward of the hospital. These costs are separate to the fees you must pay the hospital, which is subject to your health insurance cover. Please check your level of cover with your health fund prior to committing to private antenatal care. As a general rule, fees incurred at antenatal visits and for any other outpatient services outside of hospital are rebated by Medicare. Inpatient hospital fees for your delivery or any other admission during your pregnancy are rebated by your health fund. If you find that you are not covered by your health fund, you can still choose private antenatal care, but you are then personally liable to pay for the inpatient hospital fees, plus any other additional charges normally covered by your health fund.

In order to claim your Medicare rebate for your antenatal visits you must be covered by a valid referral letter. GP referrals are valid for 12 months and will cover you for your entire pregnancy. If you have been referred by another specialist the referral is only valid for three months. If you are unsure about your referral status, please contact us.

Under the Medicare Benefit Schedule (MBS) your care during pregnancy, delivery and the postnatal stay is covered by a series of 'item numbers', as outlined below. Please note, if you are admitted to hospital for any problems during your pregnancy then the fees charged by your obstetrician will be completely covered by reimbursement from your private health fund / Medicare.

Physiotherapy At Alana, we believe in a holistic approach to pregnancy management and that is why we recommend a planned visit with an Alana Physiotherapist at 20-24 weeks, as well as postnatally. These visits will ensure that any musculoskeletal problems during the pregnancy are identified early and managed, as well as providing you with tips for the pregnancy and how to keep fit and healthy as your body undergoes all of those changes. The postnatal visit is important to allow identification of any abdominal or pelvic floor muscular issues, to ensure a good recovery after the birth.

Planned visits with an Alana Physiotherapist at 20-24 weeks as well as postnatally. Health Fund rebates apply.

~$220.00 for initial consult, and ~$120 for follow up consult.
